

A New Bridge Near Completion

Structure Near Neosho Rapids 472 Feet Long

Lyon county's newest, finest and largest bridge across the Neosho river at Neosho Rapids is scheduled for opening in November. The job of putting 20,000 rivets in the continuous steel truss structure is scheduled for completion this week.

The new bridge will have a concrete floor about 7 1/2 inches thick and a 24-foot roadway. The 3-span structure is 472 feet long. Two of the spans are 140 feet and one is 180 feet.

CURVES ARE GONE.

The spans over the wide river bed are supported by two heavy concrete piers, each containing 118.2 cubic yards of concrete. These piers run straight with the river direction at the bridge site, but are set at an angle with the 25-ton steel structure they support. The new bridge and the approaches run straight east and west and eliminate the sharp curves used in crossing the old bridge. The west end of the new bridge starts near the northwest end of the old bridge, which crossed the river at an angle. The approaches, now rough graded, will be finished and surfaced later. The grade approaches are 1/2 mile long and are not expected to overflow.

The steel stringers over the center span of the new bridge give a load clearance of 15 feet, 9 inches above the roadway. The bottom of the bridge structure has a clearance of about 4 feet above the highest known high-water mark. That is a federal requirement. The ends of the bridge and one of the piers are supported by large steel rockers, which permit an expansion as much as 2 1/2 inches because of temperature variations.

The Neosho Rapids bridge will be given two coats of aluminum paint covering the standard orange paint of the structural steel.

COST IS $53,000.

The Neosho Rapids bridge, costing $53,000, was constructed under the Federal Secondary road program. About half the costs are provided by the government and the remainder by the county, for which over $20,000 in bonds were sold. The bridge structure is being built by the C. J. McCoy Construction company, of Emporia, and C. E. Gary, Emporia contractor, had the earthwork and grading contract.

A Housing Problem Solved

Baltimore (AP)—Soil erosion and duffer golf have their good points. Ask the mountain goats at Druid Hill park. Park Supt. Robert Jones says three new stone goat houses have been built at the Druid Hill zoo from the stones and rocks from the nearby Hillsdale golf course. Rain washes up some stones. Poor golfers excavate others.

The DAWN of a NEW DAY

thru BETTER LIGHT - BETTER SIGHT

It is tragic that eyes cannot be replaced. Yet many people knowingly and unknowingly mistreat them. Most eyes are harmed through the MISUSE of light. The most common offenses are inadequate light, and harsh glaring light.

THE RIGHT AMOUNT

There should be enough for the oldest and youngest members of the family—for casual seeing—for moderate eyework—and for long intensive eye-use. That's why it is so important to use correct size bulbs.

THE RIGHT KIND

Good lighting has only soft shadows, and is free of glare or bothersome reflection. Hold your hand between your light source and your work. The shadow on the surface below should not be a hard outline, but a soft fuzzy blur.

IN THE RIGHT PLACES

Every spot in the house where work is done should have the amount of light that scientific research tells us is right for each specific eye task... plus good surrounding light in the room.

JUST BECAUSE YOU HAVE ELECTRIC LIGHT, THE GREAT MODERN CONVENIENCE, DO NOT ASSUME THAT YOU HAVE ADEQUATE LIGHTING. THE CHANCES ARE YOU HAVEN'T. NOT MORE THAN ONE HOME IN TEN USES LIGHT EFFECTIVELY FOR COMFORT, CONVENIENCE, SAFETY AND EYE PROTECTION.

Sunlight is the natural, perfect light source. Correcting our lighting to bring it nearer the level of perfection, shaded sunlight, is known as LIGHT CONDITIONING. Concisely it means—lighting your home to provide the right amount, right kind, in the right places.
